

American Medical Association (AMA) Style Guide, 11th Edition

This guide is meant to provide basic examples of the AMA citation style. As this guide does not include every example possible, please consult the AMA Manual of Style \(11th edition\) for a more extensive understanding of AMA citation.¹

Standard alphabetization of the items included in this list does not always make finding the items easy, because of the numerous versions of similarly referenced items (e.g., entire book, chapter in a book, etc.). Instead, this document has been alphabetized by the larger categories for the items: academic materials, books, government materials, internet sources, legal, media, and periodicals.

Academic Materials

Conference Materials and Poster Sessions

Format:

1. Presenter. Title of presentation or poster. Item [abstract, poster, presentation] presented at: Conference/meeting name; Month Day, Year; City, State or City, Country (if outside the U.S.).

Example:

1. Chan M. Aromatherapy for post-delivery pain. Poster presented at: 10th National Conference on Midwifery; May 12, 2020; Washington, DC.

Website

Websites do not include a "title page" or similar source for citation information, as is often found in print publications. According to the AMA Manual of Style, 11th Edition, the following elements should be included when available.

Format:

16. Author or responsible body, if given (often no authors are given). Title of item cited (if none is given, use the name of the organization responsible for the site). Name of the Website. [Date published]. Updated [date]. Accessed [date]. URL

Example:

16. American Physical Therapy Association. Ethics & professionalism. Updated June 5, 2019. Accessed February 12, 2020. <http://www.apta.org/EthicsProfessionalism/>

- In this example, the name of the website is omitted because it is the same as the group author, and the date of publication is not included because it was not provided.

YouTube

Format:

17. Responsible body (the person or group who uploaded the recording). Title of Video. Name of the Site. [Date published]. Updated [date]. Accessed [date]. URL

Example:

17. University of St. Augustine for Health Sciences. CardioPulm Simulation. YouTube page. January 13, 2021. Accessed February 1, 2021.
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3oeSCYR_kEA

Legal Materials

Legal references adhere to the standard legal citation that appears across disciplines. The full legal system of citation can be found in The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation.² Free information regarding standard legal citation is provided by the Legal Information Institute at Cornell Law School: Basic Legal Citation \(cornell.edu\).

When looking up US federal bills and laws, the AMA recommends the US Government Publishing Office Federal Digital System website (<https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/>) and the website for the US Congress (<https://www.congress.gov>).

Method of Citation

A full legal reference may appear in the references list (accompanied by a numbered citation in the text) or it can appear parenthetically in the text but not in the references list. For articles appearing in scholarly journals, the full citation in the references list is preferred.

Court Cases

Format:

18. *First party v Second party, Volume number and Official reporter abbreviation (if given) and series number (if given) First page of case, specific pages used (Deciding court and Year of decision).

*Newspaper names are not abbreviated

Citation

Each reference should be cited in the text, figures, tables, or boxes in consecutive order by means of superscript Arabic numerals.

Use superscript numerals outside periods and commas, but inside colons and semicolons.

When more than 2 references are cited, use a hyphen to join the first and last numbers of a closed sequence. Use commas without space to separate the other parts of a multiple citation

When the author wishes to cite different page numbers from a single reference source at different places in the text, the page numbers are included in the superscript citation and the source appears only once in the list of references. Note that the superscript may include more than 1 page number, citation of more than 1 reference, or both, with no spaces.

Examples:

The derived data were as follows^{1,3-8,19}:

These patients showed no signs of protective sphincteric adduction.^{3(p21),9}

Westman^{5(pp3,5),9} reported 8 cases in which vomiting occurred.
